MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director of Central Intelligence

FROM : Paul V. Walsh
Associate Deputy Director for Intelligence

SUBJECT : Intelligence Briefings for Ex-Presidents

The CIA plays no active role in the briefings of ex-Presidents. These briefings are prepared in the White House Situation Room by the NSA editor, along with the Chief and Deputy Chief of the Situation Room. The briefings are reviewed in draft by Brzezinski. Basically they are a selection of extracts from current all-source publications. They are done bi-weekly and are sent electronically to the Communications Center at the El Toro Marine Base in California. There they are enveloped and carried by Marine courier to both Ford and Nixon. The next such briefing is to be done on Friday, 24 June.
